

HIVMA Clinical Fellowship Program

The HIVMA Clinical Fellowship program is entering its twelfth year, and the HIV Medicine Association is proud of the contribution that the program has made to strengthen the HIV workforce in communities most in need of HIV medical providers. Twenty-two physicians have completed the program and nearly all of them continue to provide HIV care to underserved patient populations.

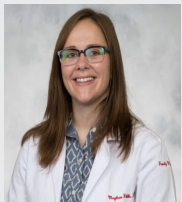

2018-2019 Fellows

Amy Baca, MD

UCSF School of Medicine at San Francisco General Hospital
San Francisco, CA
Mentor: Susa Coffey, MD

Amy Baca earned her medical degree at the University of New Mexico in 2015. She completed her residency in Internal Medicine-Primary Care at Highland Hospital in Oakland, CA in 2018. During residency she had a continuity clinic in primary care caring for patients living with HIV. This experience inspired Dr. Baca to pursue training in HIV primary care working with patients who are medically underserved under the guidance of HIV physician mentors. Her primary clinical training site is the Division of HIV within ID and Global Medicine at the University of California, San Francisco. Her primary mentor is Susa Coffey, MD.

Meghan Fibbi, DO, MPH

University of Pennsylvania Department of Family Medicine and Community Health
Philadelphia, PA
Mentors: Navid Roder, MD

Meghan Fibbi, DO, MPH, received her medical degree from the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine in 2015, and completed her residency in Family Medicine and Community Health at the University of Pennsylvania in 2018. Dr. Fibbi is eager to further her training in HIV care this year at the University of Pennsylvania Department of Family Medicine and Community Health. Her work will focus on the provision of comprehensive HIV and PrEP services, embedded in the primary care setting, to transgender/gender non-binary individuals and black MSM who have been most affected by the epidemic in Philadelphia. Dr. Fibbi's primary training site will be the University of Pennsylvania Department of Family Medicine and Community Health under the mentorship of Navid Roder, MD
